

Normandy Farm announces team building programs, in partnership with Kindle Hill Foundation in Blue Bell, PA.

Equine-Assisted Learning for Professionals

Equine Assisted Learning is at the cutting edge of leadership training, team building and corporate development in America, and we are proud to partner with Kindle Hill Foundation, located just .5 miles from Normandy Farm.

Kindle Hill Foundation is a 501c3 qualified nonprofit.

Experience a hands-on session with professional instructors in leadership, communication, and teamwork, and of course, the horses! Then take what you've learned from their field into yours.

If you are managing a company, or employed by one, you understand the importance of effective leadership, communication, and teamwork. But in these current times, how can you help your team succeed and thrive when your team may be stressed out, burnt out and worst of all, checked out?

Equine Assisted Learning presents a fresh, hands-on modality to learn about the world of horses, and how they can enlighten us about our relationships, work ethic, and trust.

Our corporate curriculums are customized to suit your organization's goals. You and your teammates will engage with our horses in fun, rewarding and eye-opening exercises designed to decrease stress levels, and increase skills in:

- Leadership
- Empathy
- Confidence
- Persuasion
- Strategic communication
- Negotiation
- Partnering
- Nuanced nonverbal communication

Pricing subject to size of group and design of curriculum.
Maximum 14 participants
